

Will switching to digital affect my TV licence?

Contributed by Administrator
Wednesday, 20 February 2008

No. The TV licensing requirements for digital television are the same as for analogue. A TV licence is required to install or use a television receiver to watch any television programme service. The TV licence fee is payable whether or not you receive or watch any BBC programmes.

Over 70 per cent of UK households have already switched to digital and continue to pay their television licence fee as before.